A CHRONICLE OF EVENTS WITH SIDE LIGHTS ON THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO MAKE UP WASHINGTON'S COMPLEX AND INTERESTING SOCIAL LIFE

"When 'Omer smote 'is bloomin' lyre, 'E 'eard men sing on land and sea An' 'e thought 'e might require,
'E went and took—the same as me."

WHICH is my excuse—if excuse be needed—for "taking" "The Neighbor's" amusing anecdote printed recently in our esteemed contemporary, the News.

Says The Neighbor:
"Fashionable Washington was ago."

"Over the teacups yesterday gossip and conjecture ran almost to the scandal point."

"A musical with Metropolitan opera stars has been set for next Thursday by Mrs. Norman Wil-lams, of Scott circle, and all the nice people have been invited."

"But—
"All the nice people don't go to parties on Holy Thursday and some one said April 6 was that."

Then a terrible battle between conscience and opportunity. Everyone doesn't get a chance to see or hear opera singers in Washington.
"I'm sure it must be sacred music," said one old lady, "and I'm going." I doubt if opera people do anything sacred, said another, "but I'm going to see how they act and how many people go. I think it a duty."

"So conversation ran, a new excuse with each tea sip. All condemning, but none declining. Finally a genial old gentleman who had taken no part in the discussion saved the situation and the religious sense of the community by getting out his pocket calendar showing Holy Thursday comes on the 13th. Relief was registered on every face. Mrs. Norman Wil-lams was, of course, the most thoughtful person in the world, etc., etc., and wouldn't have thought of a party on Holy Thursday, etc., etc.—even though she is a Presbyterian."

Which reminds me of that historic occasion when the late Senator Dan Voorhees of Indiana rose upon the Senate floor and moved that, since this was the anniversary of the day upon which the Saviour died, the Senate adjourn until the day after Easter as a token of respect. The motion was seconded and the presiding officer was just about to remark, "The eyes have it," when some one made bold to interrupt the chair with the statement that it was Ash Wednesday instead of Good Friday—and Easter forty days away!

THIS seems to be an era of "get together" parties in the official world. The Congressional Club and the ladies of the Senate have done much toward promoting friendliness and good will among the women of the Congressional set and various smaller organizations are flourishing. One of the most interesting is the luncheon club of the women of the Ohio Congressional delegation, which meets once a month at the Grace Dodge Hotel.

Three or four of the ladies act as hostesses at each meeting and at the next luncheon on Thursday Mrs. Atlee Pomerene and Mrs.
Frank Willis will preside, assisted by Mrs. A. E. B. Stephens, Mrs. J.
M. Foster and Mrs. Morse. Mrs.
Pomerene is the lone Democrat in a gathering of Republicans, but fortunately the luncheons have no political purpose or persuasion.

Hughes Honor Guests.

Hughes will be the guests of honor to Cochran de Alencar, was the honored guest at luncheon yesterday of the naval attaché of the Brazilian embassy, Capt. Heracito Gracia Aranha, who entertained in his apartment at

M. Travares.

of Virginia. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a short

An unusual service was held last evening at Christ Church, Alexandria, having as its subject, "The Cross Triumphant," the pageant to be given at the National Cathedral on May 5. Following evening prayer, conducted by the Rev. William J.
Morton, D. D., rector of the church, Commander C. T. Jewell, U. S. N., spoke on "The Influence of Christianity on Civilization" in the various periods of English and American history as brought out by certain of the most impressive scenes of the pageant.

Mrs. Minnie Gerode Andrews gave a most interesting talk on "The Influence of Poetry, Music, Art, and the Drama on the Religious Thought of the World."

Christ Church, Alexandria; Pohick on the Potomac, and Falls Church, Fairfax county, were originally all a part of the parish of Fairfax, Virginia, and it is highly appropriate that the pageant scene, "The Church in Colonial Days," will be sponsored by the congregations of these churches, and that the parts will be interpreted by descendants of the very characters they represent in the scene. Miss Helen Cummings, of Alexandria, is chairman of the group.

Because of the world-wide interest in the Girl Scouts, prominent foreigners, together with Washington society men and women, have generously given their time to produce tableaux on Thursday evening, April 6. Some are portraits and others represent Old World legends.

Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt and Miss Madelon Loughran are to be posed at the famous "Arabian Nights" in the famous "Arabian Nights" tale.

Miss Nadine Oxnard and Miss Martha Hawley will represent "Betelgeuse and the Villa." Prince Eugene Lubomirski is to appear as "The Prince and the Golden Bird."

Some are not strictly tableaux.
In "The Magic Serpent," which Miss Lindsay Wood and George Sloan depict, the snake changes to a maiden, thus interpreting the story that it recalls. There are others, each one illustrating some famous tale.

Among the portraits, two of Goya will be shown; in one, Mrs. Warren Robbins posing, and in the other, Mrs. John S. McCallum.

There will be four Velazquez portraits, posed by Miss Cecilia Mc-Callum, Miss Betty Connolly, Miss Helen Robbins, and Dr. Sokolowski, and two portraits by Zuluaga, with Mrs. John Philip Hill, Miss Louise Todd, Miss Romona Lefevre, and Miss Patricia Ainsie composing them.

Miss Alice Mann, Mrs. William Marshall Bullitt, and Mr. De Fontaine represent portraits by Zurbacheu, Antonio Moro, and Sorolla.

The patronesses for these tableaux are Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Bar-LeBreton, Mrs. Charles Evans
Hughes, Mrs. Bland, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. John Allan Daugherty, Mrs.
Charles C. Glover, Mrs. Brett Noyes, and Mrs. Charles Boughton Wood.

The executive board of the Congress of Mothers, Parent and Teachers' Associations will entertain the presidents of all clubs and organizations having committees on educational activities and child welfare work, at a luncheon on Tuesday, April 4, at the Arts Club. Among those who will be present are Mrs.
Flora Jackson Stoddard, Judge Sellers, Mrs. L. B. Swornstedt, Mrs. M.
J. Hull, Mrs. Basil Manley, Mrs.
Thomas Calver, and Mrs. Sidney Jacobs.

Dr. Kate Waller Barrett was hostess to the members of the Anthony League at a delightfully appointed tea on Saturday afternoon at her home in Alexandria, Va. In her usual charming and gracious way, Dr. Barrett entertained her guests with stories of her travels and of interesting experiences in her wide and useful career. The work of the Ivokota Farms, a national educational farm colony located at Clinton, Va., was described by Dr. Barrett, who is president of the board of directors. Members having for donation books, a victrola or records—urgent needs of the institution—were asked to communicate with Dr. Barrett, 408 Duke street, Alexandria.

Among the guests were: Mrs. A.
E. Hendley, Mrs. N. B. Paul, Mr.
George, Miss Bede Johnson, Miss M. L. Williamson, Mrs. J. W. Frizzell, Mrs. M. D. Duvall, Mrs. E. C.
